Investment Thesis

Grocery retail faces demand normalisation and intense competition. We think the grocery retail business may face challenges ahead in the form of normalizing demand in the regions where the pandemic situation has stabilised. Competition is also fierce in both the online channel (impacting Yonghui) and offline channel (Indonesia).

Refer to important disclosures at the end of this report

Transformation of DFI will not happen overnight. We think the pandemic may have changed consumption patterns in favour of value. In our view, DFI's price investment strategy may lead to a period of lower margins and will need time to bear fruit as cost structure changes are implemented.

Key catalyst – Watch for return of Hong Kong-China travel. Health & Beauty segment revenue dropped c.US$1bn in FY20 as the flow of visitors from Mainland China dried up. However, recent rumours that China may be looking to 'coexist' with COVID-19 may catalyse the stock especially if it leads to a resumption of two-way travel.

Valuation:

TP of US$3.01 based on SOTP valuation. Our target price of US$3.01 is derived from a sum-of-parts valuation methodology. We value DFI's core business at US$2.01 based on DCF and its 20% and 18% stakes in Yonghui and RRHI at US$0.78 and US$0.22 respectively based on market prices.

Where we differ:

We are more conservative on margins as we believe DFI's multi-year transformation programme will need time to take shape.

Key Risks to Our View:

A better-than-expected improvement in operating margins or earnings performance could provide upside to our TP.

WHAT'S NEW

FY21 earnings below consensus as Grocery Retail underperforms

- FY21 revenue declined 12.2% y-o-y to US$9.0bn, forming 95.7% of consensus estimate.
- Consequently, FY21 core PATMI plunged 62.7% y-o-y to US$102.9m, forming 84.6% of consensus estimate.
- Notably, Dairy Farm was dragged down by losses incurred by its associate, Yonghui which led to the Group recording a US$41.8m loss from associates.
- Operating margins were also softer across most segments as government support tapered off.
- The biggest drag remained Grocery Retail which saw operating profit declining 46.4% y-o-y.

Operating profit across all segments lower y-o-y

- Decline in Grocery Retail operating profit was attributed to divestment of Wellcome Taiwan, withdrawal of Giant Indonesia, absence of panic buying relative to FY20, and lack of government reliefs.
- Lower Convenience Stores operating profit on lower customer traffic as a result of COVID restrictions in Singapore and China.
- Similarly, reduced levels of traffic at Health & Beauty stores saw FY21 segment operating profit decreasing
- Pre-opening expenses, supply chain issues and pandemic restrictions impacted operating profit of Home Furnishings segment.

Grocery Retail

Impact of price investment strategy to take time but Hong Kong could deliver a boost. In Singapore, there is some impact from DFI's price investment strategy. DFI's FY21 market share declined at a much slower pace of 0.4ppt (FY20: -3.4ppts) amongst modern grocery retailers according to Euromonitor. This was achieved even as operating margins were maintained at above 3%, a significant performance compared to the 2017 – 2019 period where operating margins had not crossed 2.2%. That said, the better margins come on the back of pandemic driven demand. The impact of DFI's price investment strategy will become clearer as demand normalizes.

For FY22F, we have forecast sales to grow by 3.4% vs a 22.4% decline in FY21. Correspondingly, Grocery Retail operating margins should rise to 3.8%, driven by pandemic restrictions and panic buying due to the COVID-19 situation in Hong Kong.

Convenience Stores

Sporadic COVID-19 outbreaks could dent performance.

Mainland China and Hong Kong have seen multiple outbreaks of COVID-19, each of which has resulted in stricter pandemic restrictions that affected convenience store sales. Even as Hong Kong battles its fifth COVID-19 wave, we are encouraged that pandemic control measures in Mainland China are becoming more localised. We are projecting revenue growth of 6.1% y-o-y for convenience stores in FY22F, largely predicated on continued momentum in store growth at 4.0% y-o-y. Operating margin is assumed to inch up by 0.1ppt to account for the more localised restrictions in Mainland China, which are likely to boost convenience stores recovery.

Health & Beauty

Mainland China-Hong Kong border reopening remains critical. Prior to COVID-19, we estimate that about a third of segment revenue was contributed by mainlanders shopping at Hong Kong's Mannings stores. We think that a reopening of this border coupled with a convenient border crossing will be critical for the segment to regain this lost revenue. In the meantime, we project FY22F sales to grow 4.5% y-o-y on an expected boost from COVID-19 driven purchases by locals in Hong Kong.

Home Furnishings

Home Furnishings to record a bounce on reopening and new stores. FY21 saw IKEA stores in Taiwan and Indonesia disrupted as COVID-19 cases surged. We see both markets strongly recovering this year. A full year of sales from new stores together with a recovery in Taiwan and Indonesia leads us to project FY22F segment sales growth and operating margin of 28.3% and 7.5% respectively.

Maintain HOLD with lower TP of US$3.01. We lower our FY22F/23F earnings by 20%/25% mostly on the delay of the China-Hong Kong border reopening due to a spike in COVID-19 cases in Hong Kong. Positively, recent rumours that China is considering a shift to 'co-exist' with COVID-19 could potentially spur the opening of the China-Hong Kong border and revive mainland Chinese traffic in Hong Kong. Such a shift will be welcomed by Dairy Farm's 3 major segments (Grocery Retail, Convenience Stores, Health & Beauty) where mainlanders either make up a significant portion of customers (Grocery Retail and Health & Beauty) or have frequented stores less due to COVID-19 outbreaks and restrictions in China (Convenience Stores). Indeed, the recent spike in COVID-19 cases in Hong Kong and the lack of reaction in Dairy Farm's share price may be indicative that the market is indifferent to COVID-19 driven supermarket demand but instead is more focused on the return of mainland Chinese traffic
