Alliance Bank Malaysia Berhad

One of the biggest beneficiaries of OPR hike

- FY3/22 net profit was below our expectations, at 95% of our forecast due to lower-than-expected non-interest income and higher-than-expected LLP.
- We are projecting net profit growth of 33.7% for Alliance in FY3/23F, to be driven by the absence of CM and positive impact from OPR hike.
- Upgrade from Reduce to Hold as we see the bank as one of the largest beneficiaries of OPR hikes.

FY3/22F net profit below our expectations but above consensus

Alliance Bank's FY3/22 net profit was below our expectation at 95% of our forecast due to lower-than-expected non-interest income and higher-than-expected loan loss provisioning (LLP). However, FY22 net profit was above the market expectation at 104% of Bloomberg consensus estimate. The FY22 DPS of 18.5 sen (dividend payout of 50%) was slightly higher than our projected 17 sen (dividend payout of 43.6%). FY22 net profit surged by 59.6%, driven by a 59.2% decline in LLP.

A yoy jump in 4QFY22 net profit due to lower LLP

4QFY22 net profit rose 105.6% yoy, thanks to a 46.4% yoy plunge in LLP and a 5.6% yoy drop in overheads. On a qoq basis, 4QFY22 net profit fell by 31.8%, attributable to a 318.6% surge in LLP and a 6.3% drop in net interest income.

Projecting 33.7% jump in FY3/23F net profit

Banks | Malaysia | June 1, 2022

We are projecting a 33.7% jump in Alliance Bank's FY3/23F net profit, which would be driven by (1) a 19.9% drop in loan loss provisioning, (2) the absence of Cukai Makmur (CM) taxation (normalised tax rate of 25% in FY23F vs. 30.8% in FY22), and (3) an 11.8% increase in net interest income, benefiting from the hike in overnight policy rate (OPR).

Raise net profit forecasts and target price

We raise our FY23-24F net profit forecasts by 3-4% as we factor in another 25bp hike in OPR, on top of the 25bp hike we had reflected. For our DDM valuation, we raise our assumed risk-free rate from 3.8% to 4% (to reflect the increase in interest rates) but reduce the discount to our DDM value from 20% to 10% (given the easing Covid-19 credit risks). All these lift our target price from RM3.17 to RM3.45.

Upgrade Alliance Bank from Reduce to Hold

We believe the OPR hike on 11 May 22 marks the beginning of an interest rate upcycle. We see Alliance as one of the biggest beneficiaries of this trend given its high floating rate loans ratio of 82.4% and CASA ratio of 48.9% at end-Mar 22. As such, we upgrade Alliance from Reduce to Hold. On the flip side, we see higher credit risks for Alliance from Covid-19 relative to some of its peers given its elevated credit charge-off rate of 63bp in FY20 and 121bp in FY21, and above-industry gross impaired loan ratio of 1.85% in Mar 22, although these risks have been gradually easing. We prefer Hong Leong Bank for exposure to the sector.

About our valuation methodology for Alliance Bank

The proxy for the risk-free rate for us to arrive at the cost of equity for our DDM methodology is the 10-year Malaysian government securities (MGS) yield. Our assumed risk-free rate of 4% is derived from the average consensus of the 10-year MGS yield for the next 10 quarters (from 2Q22 to 3Q24) (extracted from Bloomberg). The increase in our assumed risk-free rate is in tandem with the rise in interest rates in Malaysia (OPR and MGS yields).

Previously, we applied a discount of 20% to our DDM value to arrive at our target price for Alliance Bank given the potential risks from Covid-19 pandemic on its asset quality. Now, we are lowering the discount to 10%, as we see easing credit risk pressures from the Covid-19 outbreak, as reflected in the following:

- The bank's gross impaired loan ratio has declined from 2.34% in FY21 to 1.85% in FY22.
- Its loan loss coverage strengthened from 105.9% in FY21 to 141.5% in FY22, signifying strong buffer for additional provisioning from any new impaired loans.
- Loans under repayment assistance have been on a downtrend, falling from RM14.5bn in Dec 21 to RM9.25bn in Feb 22 and RM6.28bn in May 22.

Highlights from 4QFY3/22 conference call

Alliance Bank held a conference call on 31 May 22 for its 4QFY3/22 financial results. The call was hosted by its Group CEO Joel Kornreich. The key highlights from the conference call were details on its loans under repayment assistance and its guidance for FY3/23.

Guidance for FY23F ➤

During the conference call on 31 May 22, Alliance Bank unveiled the following guidance for its financial performance in FY23F (the numbers in the brackets are our forecasts for FY23F):

- Gross loan growth of 6-8% (6.5%)
- Net interest margin of around 2.5% (2.57%)
- Cost-to-income ratio of less than 45% (41.9%)
- Net credit cost of 40-45bp (37bp)
- ROE of more than 10% (11.4%)

The above guidance is largely within our expectations.

A decline in loans under repayment assistance >

In line with the trends for other banks, Alliance Bank's loans under repayment assistance are also in a downward trend, falling from RM14.5bn in Dec 21 to RM9.25bn in Feb 22 and RM6.28bn in May 22. In May 22, loans under repayment assistance accounted for 13.6% of its total loans (vs. 20.8% in Feb 22). The breakdown of its loans under repayment assistance of RM6.28bn in May 22 was 38% consumer loans (mostly mortgages), 33% SME loans, 19% commercial loans, and 10% corporate loans.

Potential upside and downside risks >

Potential upside risks for our Hold call would be stronger-than-expected loan growth and a significant reduction in gross impaired loans ratio which would lead to a further decline in loan loss provisioning. Conversely, the potential downside risks would be a slowdown in loan growth and a pick-up in the deposit competition for the banking industry which would dilute the positive impact from the OPR hike.

ESG in a nutshell

During its 2QFY22 results briefing on 26 Nov 2021, Alliance unveiled its key ESG priorities/targets as follows (1) rolling out ESG Screener to categorise all accounts according to Bank Negara Malaysia's Climate Change and Principle-based Taxonomy, (2) committed to generating RM5bn of new sustainable businesses by FY3/25, (3) partnering with Malaysian Green Technology and Climate Change Corporation and Bursa to help customers adopt sustainability practices, (4) collaborating with strategic partners to promote financial literacy to vulnerable communities, (5) empowering SMEs via education, upskilling and financing, and (6) supporting digital transformation via digital solutions. We are positive on the above as it shows progress in Alliance's ESG disclosure.

Keep your eye on	Implications
In our view, the key priority for Alliance is to integrate ESG evaluation into all facets of its decision-making processes. This would include factoring in the risks from climate change in its key business decisions.	We believe Alliance will work on fully embedding ESG evaluation into the credit-scoring system of its loan-approval process. ESG criteria could also be one of the key considerations for the bank to onboard any new non- borrowing customers and suppliers. So far, there has not been any detail on Alliance Bank's exposure to risks from climate change. However, we think it will improve its analysis and disclosure of its climate- change risks in the longer term, especially when Bank Negara Malaysia is expected to introduce more regulations on this in the next few years.
ESG highlights	Implications
Alliance Bank is one of the constituents of the FTSE4Good Bursa Malaysia index but we think there is still room for improvement in its ESG disclosure.	In the longer term, we expect Alliance Bank to disclose more ESG-related information, including (1) the percentage exposure of its loan portfolio to sectors with high ESG risks, (2) its initiatives to mitigate the risks from its exposure to ESG-vulnerable sectors, and (3) its exposure to and potential risks from climate change.
Trends	Implications
We think the size of Alliance Bank's green financing is still small at 1-2% of its total loans, similar to most Malaysian banks.	Alliance Bank is committed to generating RM5bn worth of new sustainable businesses by FY25F, which could partly include green financing. In our view, other types of sustainable businesses would include the financing of the purchase of electric vehicles, green buildings and the equipment related to the generation of green energy (like solar panels) as well as the launch of ESG-compliant wealth-management products and investment accounts.
